MRS. HAMILTON SMITH, who has been in Richmond for the past ten days as the guest of friends, will leave Tuesday for her home, "Glenmore," near Brandy Station. Mrs. Smith has a perfectly charming voice, and her song recital at the Woman's Club last Monday afternoon was one of the most delightful heard there for some time. Mrs. Smith has a very fascinating personality as well as a lovely face, and a great deal of entertaining was done in her honor during her stay in Richmond. Mrs. Clifford Miller gave a luncheon of ten covers at the Country Club last week, and Mrs. A. B. Guilgon and Mrs. Robertson also entertained in her honor.

Her father is a noted French musician and composer, and Mrs. Smith has studied under some of the best known masters of the world.

He is a great-grand-nephew of Austen, the famous novelist, whom Macaulay called "our Shakespeare in miniature," and is a grandson of Archbishop Trenchard, the celebrated English scholar, who is buried in Westminster Abbey. Mr. Leigh is an author himself, and one of the leading authorities on the history of Eton. He and his wife will remain with Colonel and Mrs. McCabe for several weeks.

For Miss Hampton. Miss Eleanor Wingfield will entertain at bridge whist on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Corinne Hampton, of Columbia, S. C. Mapp-King. Cards have been received in Richmond announcing the marriage of Miss Eloise King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis King, and John Edwin Brooks Mapp, the ceremony having taken place on Wednesday evening, November 15, at the home of the bride's parents in Pocahontas City, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Mapp will be at home after the wedding at the University of Virginia, and has several times visited in Richmond as the guest of Robert M. Jefferson at "Meadow Brook."

For Miss Dunnington. Quite a charming affair was the handkerchief shower given by Miss Janet Naylor at her home in Farmville on Thursday afternoon of last week. The house was lighted with yellow and white chrysanthemums, the color scheme to be used for Miss Dunnington's wedding. In the center of the living room was suspended an enormous handkerchief basket made of yellow and white satin with long streamers of white ribbon. The bride-to-be was literally showered with dainty embroidered bits of linen made by her friends for the very occasion. In the dining room, where tea was poured late in the afternoon, the same color scheme of yellow and white was most effectively carried out in the table decorations, and a big silver basket of yellow blossoms was used as centerpiece.

Some of those present were Mrs. J. Taylor Thompson, Mrs. W. P. Richardson, Mrs. Tucker Bugg, Miss Hattie Bugg, Miss Carrie Kyle, Miss Elizabeth Richardson, Miss Alice Burgess, Miss Margaret Watkins, Miss Sue Gray Flippin, Miss Mary Page Irving, Miss Frankie McKinney, Miss Blanton, Miss Hattie Paulette, Mrs. John Walker.

Of Interest Here. The Baltimore Sun of recent issue contains the following announcement of much interest to Virginia society: "Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Cull have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sarah White, to Dr. Richard Caldwell Hume, of Virginia. The wedding will take place early in December. Marriage in Washington."

The marriage of Miss Willie Everett Moore and John Tucker Doyle, both of Farmville, was celebrated in Washington on November 15. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. W. Whitmore, rector of the Episcopal Church.

MacDonald-Baldwin. Farmville Methodist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, November 15, at 5 o'clock. Katharine MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer Baldwin, became the bride of Wade Elkin Douglas MacDonald, of McLeansville, S. C. The Rev. R. W. Proctor performed the ceremony, and Miss Andrews presided at the organ. Pains and ferns and lighted candles decorated the altar and chancel, and the bride's brother, R. L. Baldwin, of Durham, N. C., gave her away.

She wore a handsome gown of crepe meteor trimmed in duchess lace and embroidered in pearls. It was made with court train, and her tulle veil fell from a little cap of lace wreathed in orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Cecil Baldwin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pale pink messaline veiled in pink chiffon cloth with a mob cap to match. She carried an armful of pink chrysanthemums. The best man was the groom's brother, W. T. Donald, of Woodlawn, and the ushers included Dr. R. L. Hudgins, J. N. Hubbard, R. S. Warren, of Richmond, and L. G. Baldwin, brother of the bride.

The bridesmaids, Misses Grace Walton and Virginia Paulette, wore white messaline gowns with mob caps of lace and carried bouquets of pink roses. The flower girls, little Miss Grayson Baldwin, of Durham, N. C., and little Miss Virginia Baldwin, of Lynchburg, ring-bearer, wore dainty lingerie frocks. Little Misses Elizabeth Bugg and Agnes Watkins held the ribbon.

There was a reception the night preceding the wedding for the bridal party and out-of-town guests immediately following the rehearsal.

BACK TO SWEET SIXTEEN

Ladies Will Find The Following Experience of Mrs. Blair Full Of Interest.

Pollock, La.—"For months," says Mrs. T. S. Blair, of this place, "my health was very bad on account of womanly troubles. The doctor's medicine did me no good."

"I was very weak and nervous, and, some days, I could not be up. I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Cardui to try, and before I had taken one bottle I was up and doing my work. Before I commenced to take Cardui I had such spells I was not able to do anything. Now I have taken only 3 bottles of Cardui in all, and I feel fine."

"A few months ago I weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 158, and I do all my own work—cook, wash and milk—and feel like I did when I was 'sweet sixteen.' Taking Cardui has cured me."

"If every sick and ailing woman would only take Cardui, the woman's tonic, as Mrs. Blair did, womanly troubles would not be so widespread as they are now, for the curative value of this well-known remedy in all such cases has been proven by its more than 50 years of genuine success."

"If you are a woman, try Cardui. You will appreciate its tonic, building effect on the womanly constitution."

Begin to-day.

LUMBER BUSINESS VERY PROFITABLE

Timber Interests in Spotsylvania Lucrative to Many Citizens.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Spotsylvania, Va., November 19.—The lumber and timber interests in Spotsylvania county have for a number of years been followed with a keen zeal, and it has for the most part been very lucrative. Many thousands of acres have been cut over, and while many large forests have been felled and their product converted into lumber and sold, still there remain many millions of feet of timber, which will take many years yet to manufacture and put into market. A dozen or more of the men who twenty years ago were just merging into manhood, have by their great spirit of pluck and industry become rich, and are now large property owners, many of them having launched into the timber and lumber business. Few sections have produced finer timber and lumber for Northern markets than Spotsylvania county.

The breeding and raising of highly improved and thoroughly graded stock of all kinds is making rapid headway among a great many farmers, there being Jersey, Holstein, Red Poll, Angus, Durham and Hereford cattle, the Berkshire, Poland China, and Chester white hogs, and Shropshire, South Down and Dorset sheep. Not less than thirty or forty of the county's thrifty farmers are engaged in the successful breeding and raising of all the above named species of stock.

Spotsylvania farmers are well ahead with their work, and the fall seeding, except in a few cases, is done, and notwithstanding the unprecedented drought of the spring and summer, there is an average crop of corn and vegetables. The favorable weather conditions of the fall kept the pastures abundant with feeding matter, and stock of all kinds will enter the winter in excellent shape.

Spotsylvania county this year abounds with game of every kind which is bred in Eastern Virginia. Partridges, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels and wild turkeys and foxes are numerous. There is almost an unlimited amount of forest game, with open lands, covered with rank vegetation, in all of which game of all sorts abounds this season, and lovers of field and forest sports, with gun and dogs, have had and are still having abundant sport and pleasure.

Numbers of hunters from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Washington, Baltimore and other Northern cities are here to spend a season of recreation in this historic section.

The fine and comfortable pleasure grounds for the county has been organized, and the permanent improved roads in Courtland District, and has nearly completed its work. State Highway Commissioner Wilson, while on a recent visit to Spotsylvania, reported to have declared that the improved public roads built in Spotsylvania are the best he has seen in any section of the State.

Jett, foreman and general manager at the lumber mill of L. R. Colbert, of this county, met with a painful accident a day or two ago by having his left hand badly mangled and torn through by the accidental falling of a heavy grapple from upon him in lifting a log, and, in consequence, he is unable to work.

An educational rally and public school teachers' convention was held yesterday in the courthouse, under the auspices of the Division Superintendent James A. B. Division, Secretary of the State Educational Bureau, at Richmond, delivered a fine address on "Practical Work in Schools," which was well received. Superintendent Ashby also addressed the assembly along general educational lines, after which a teachers' association was formed. Thaddeus S. Boone was elected president of the association, and Miss Josephine Scott Jerrell was chosen secretary. Delegates were then elected to the Teachers' State Convention, soon to convene in Norfolk.

The year 1911 has been the house-building year in Spotsylvania county. More than 140 new residences have been built, many of which were costly edifices.

Drewry at "Edgewood."

AUTHORITIES FAIL TO LOCATE PART

Wife of Missing Man Sent Back to South Carolina—Forthcoming Events.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Harrisonburg, Va., November 19.—Nothing so far has been heard of Gen. Hart, the South Carolinian, who is alleged to have deserted his wife in Harrisonburg. Several days ago Mrs. Hart, penniless and homeless, reported to the Chief of Police here, who, together with Rev. C. C. Cook, the Baptist Church, raised a fund and sent the unfortunate woman to her home in Florence, S. C., where, during the years old, said that Hart left her at the hotel here and went into the country searching for work, saying that he would send funds from time to time. Mrs. Hart is a former pupil of the Harrisonburg Orphanage, at Florence, S. C., and is now residing in Harrisonburg, and is getting ready for three big events—the Valley poultry show, in December; the State Horticultural Society, in January; and the State Sunday School Convention, in April.
